WILLIAM S. LERACH is widely recognized as one of the leading securities lawyers in the United States. He has headed the prosecution of hundreds of securities class and stockholder derivative actions resulting in recoveries amounting to billions of dollars for defrauded shareholders. Mr. Lerach has been the subject of considerable media attention and is a frequent commentator and lecturer on securities and corporate law. He represents numerous public and Multi-Employer pension funds in corporate securities matters.

Lerach is best known at the moment for his role as lead counsel for the class of Enron debt and equity securities holders, a case in which he has already recovered about $7.3 billion for class members from such defendants as Lehman Brothers (LEH), Bank of America (BAC), Citigroup (C), JP Morgan Chase (JPM), CIBC (CM), and Enron's outside directors.

In recent years Lerach has also been involved in shareholder actions against Dynegy, Qwest (Q), WorldCom, and AOL/Time Warner (TWX). www.lerachlaw.com
